

John Barrett Barn

This barn sets off a little hill, down near Provo River, west of 2 small homes of Dennis Webb, at about 2200 West 1200 So in Charleston. It has an interesting story of ownership. Apparently, Nephi Casper owned the ground for many years and finally sold it to Moroni Casper and then it went to Bert and his wife Donna Casper Carlson. She was the daughter of Moroni & Leah Casper. The Carlsons owned it for about 30 years. Then two female nurses came to work for the Nielson Memorial Hospital and wanted to do farming on the side. They were Rhea Bowman and Nell Boyer and then purchased the home and ground from the Bert Carlsons, and began to raise nutria animals for their fur. Later, they sold the property to James K Palmer, MD who used to consult with Heber Doctors and do genitourinary surgery for their patients. He lived in Salt Lake, so Larry Winterton managed the farm in Charleston for Dr Palmer.

Then a Mr Barrett of the Salt Lake Transit Co., bought this property for his son, John Barrett. John then built this open hay barn, much as it is...for hay storage only. It was then, that Gene and Ruth Roberts purchased it, but later sold it to a Dr Hugh Hogle, son of the Hogle Zoo man, in Salt Lake. Then he sold it to the present owner, Dennis Webb.

Informants: James Moroni Besendorfer, Larry & Sharon J Winterton, and Arlene McKnight Nyman.
